The simple alternative to paying seasonal workers without a bank account

onepay[®]
the UK's leading payroll card service

The payment solution for growers

Paying seasonal workers can be an administrative nightmare. Everything would be so much simpler if they could open a UK bank account – but so many of them can't.

They can, however, get the next best thing. Which is a OnePay Account – complete with Visa payroll card.

It gives each worker an individual account number and a sort code – just like a bank account. So the OnePay account slots seamlessly into your existing payroll systems; no awkward exceptions to deal with, no time-consuming extra effort.

As the UK's leading provider of payroll accounts, we've designed a payment service which makes life as easy as possible for employers – but still gives workers a convenient, low-cost way to access their money.

For growers looking for the best way to match seasonal workers up with their wages, there's nothing easier, faster, or more secure than the OnePay Account.

“ Whenever I call OnePay the people are always helpful and friendly, they really do their best to help. I'm never worried about calling if I need some help or have any questions about my account.”

Christine Turner, employee

What are the benefits?

With OnePay each worker has his or her individual account number, plus a sort code, so paying seasonal staff is just like paying any other employee.

The OnePay account provides each worker with a Visa debit card that allows them to withdraw cash or make retail transactions wherever Visa is accepted.

No overdraft facility is provided, and the account will not allow cash withdrawals or retail transactions that would send the card below a zero balance.

The application process

The process is extremely quick and cards and pins are normally despatched in a batch to your site. You will also be provided with individual account details shortly after your workers accounts have been created.

And the cost?

Using the OnePay Visa Payroll Account costs your business absolutely nothing – no set-up fees and no usage fees for you at any stage.

Simplicity

The OnePay account fits in seamlessly with all your existing back-office payroll systems. There's no need to deal with the usual all-encompassing reference numbers, as other providers insist on.

Speed

Because payment is so simple, your time spent on wage-processing is optimised.

Security

As well as eliminating the need for cash or cheque payments, the OnePay account is far more accurate than other methods in getting the wages paid to the right person.

Flexibility

Ours is a tightly-controlled operation, so all your workers will qualify as account holders.
